HERE IT COMES -- Pontiac Motor Division next month will introduce a new supercar called The Judge. The new model is specially designed to offer a unique combination of added performance, excellent handling and distinctive appearance. Standard equipment on The Judge includes a 366-horsepower, V-8 Ram Air engine and a 60-inch floating deck air foil. The first production units will be painted a bright red. Pontiac was the first to offer a muscle car when the GTO was introduced five years ago and The Judge represents the latest entry in this popular market.
